~~BBC—History—An Overview of the Reformation~~

The Reformation became the basis for the founding of Protestantism, one of the three major branches of Christianity. The Reformation led to the reformulation of certain basic tenets of Christian belief and resulted in the division of Western Christendom between Roman Catholicism and the new Protestant traditions. The spread of Protestantism in areas that had previously been Roman Catholic had far-reaching political, economic, and social effects.

The Reformation was a split in the Latin Christian church instigated by Luther in 1517 and evolved by many others over the next decade—a campaign that created and introduced a new approach to Christian faith called 'Protestantism.' This split has never been healed and doesn't look likely to, but don't think of the church as divided between older Catholics and new Protestantism, because there is a huge range of Protestant ideas and offshoots.

~~Reformation 101—The Protestant Reformation in Europe~~

The Protestant Reformation or simply 'the Reformation', as it is commonly referred to, was the religious revolution within Europe in the sixteenth century that led to a split in the Catholic Church. Christianity became no longer a religion only tied to the Pope in Rome.

Diplomacy in the age of the Reformation This was a golden era for diplomats and international lawyers. To the network of alliances that became established throughout Europe during the Renaissance, the Reformation added confessional pacts. Unfortunately, however, the two systems were not always compatible.
